

Site Administration

There are many things a site administrator can do, from enabling advanced features and plugins, to setting security and server preferences. You should ensure you understand any of the administration features before changing them, as they could have site-wide implications for your organisation.

Related pages